

Ibis are long-legged wading birds. The glossy ibis wades through shallow water to feed. Its long thin bill curves toward the ground. This bill is perfect for digging through water-soaked mud for insects, worms and the glossy's favorite food, fiddler crabs.